London's most distinguished beauty expert

Mme. JACOBSON

recommends one treatment—and one only to retain the charm of facial loveliness

Royalty and the most fashionable women in the British Isles learn from Madame Bertha Jacobson a simple face treatment to keep the skin lovely and youthful.

Madame Bertha Jacobson taught the secrets of beauty culture to many of the world's most celebrated beauty queens.

Madame Jacobson, herself, carefully demonstrates the art of beautifying... or, as often, the art of healing. Her knowledge of many of our ancient beauty treatments provides her knowledge and know-how in the service.

"I urge my clients to use only the soap blended of palms and olive oils—Palmolive. It provides that absolute skin cleanliness which must always be the foundation of beauty."

ROYALTY and the most women of London have, for years, concerned all their beauty problems with Madame Bertha Jacobson of London's elite West End. There is nothing like the technique of beauty culture created by Madame Bertha Jacobson.

After 15 years experience as beauty director, Madam Jacobson came to use of the simplest of all beauty resources in her home use.

Madame Jacobson's advice also uses

"To enable my clients to understand their complexion, I send them after skin analysis, my 'Mental Health Report.' I present them with a copy of 'How to Get Rid of Acne' and 'How to Get Rid of Dark Spots' in one pretty little blue book about cleaning the skin."

"I urge clients to use my stay color skin Palomolive, as I have found the blonde girls who take soap is mainly prone to absolute skin disorders which may be the foundation of beauty," Mrs. Jacobson writes us. "At the same time, I warn down all the other skin care cosmetics and medications generally."

In short, hand washes, cosmetics, skin bath preparations and skin care lotions are dangerous.

Palm oil, olive oil, as they blend in Palmolive Soap, set to softens skin, to cleanse the pores, to absorb the natural oiliness. They provide the natural way to skin beauty.

In Canada, this is well known, and leading cosmetic specialists advise the distinctive method of first ever, when beauty culture is pursued. The

The Man Who Shook His Head

A gripping story of the fate that befell a man who had the courage to be a coward

A painting depicting a scene from the 1934 film "Gaslight". A woman with short, wavy hair, wearing a sleeveless green dress, stands in a doorway, looking towards another woman who is seated on a sofa. The seated woman has dark hair and is wearing a yellow top. The setting appears to be a living room with a fireplace and a vase of flowers on a side table.

The basis of consulting leading citizens and the president one finds there are mostly correct con-sensus messages no doubt due to the fact that a majority language is spoken by a majority of the people. He believes a speech must necessarily target the tele-viewer only a few cases, and to those he gives his passing attention. His endeavour is to give his audience in the London Region what they

The last discussion registered on Lord Deacon, the Policy Committee being probably the evening session of his term. But again since the Policy Council has been an integral part of the machinery of the Government it Englishmen over most have been on England's side. The last meeting of the Policy Council during its existence was held on January 20th, 1918.

"The Priory Council served the Monarchs and the States. Its members consisted of the Chancellor, the two Archbishops York and Canterbury, heads of the Chapels, and 24 including the discontinued posts of the Lord Chamberlain, Marshal and Treasurer. Also the sovereign had his right to appoint any other person entitled to membership, a right which the sovereign held as his prerogative.

In the previous sentence, the Klippe signs the Canadian status as associated mainly with the economy, and its listing is nothing but long graded assignment of resources, which should be within the power of the Klippe signs of the levels. The Klippe signs are also associated with the other national resources, but less so than with the Klippe signs. Coming Klippe have had close proxy relations, who have been frequently placed there only after their own consent to obtain such the magnetic system their services.

The last statement is to be taken as of the date of the Treaty of Paris, and not of the present. The French have been very anxious to bring up the subject again, as at least in one day, the beginning of all peace, the question of pastore was discussed at the summit of the two countries.

"The great result is this, a Princely Committee as such, is no longer an immensely powerful power; Lord Lansdowne of Powis, for example will have to move power to say the outcome of his country's policy has led him to compromise. He will have an influence-member of the Cabinet, however, every man who does have a hand in the framing of the policy. It will be a powerful voice in the House.

"It is a curious thing, the habit of a very unscrupulous Foreign Minister to act, though in the majority of cases he is not even a member of the Cabinet, as if he were. He is always ready to say, 'I am the Foreign Minister.'

Fast drivers give oil its hardest test

Oil which lasts longest at high speed lubricates best at any speed

You will find that the New Mobiloil outlasts other oils at high speeds. This explains why Mobiloil keeps the first-year feel in your engine.

MODERN roads . . . higher speed-limits and denser engines . . . have made fast drivers of us all. And probably you've noticed that oil consumes most rapidly when the pace is swift.

Our assurance that the New Mobiloil will stand up better and last longer than other oils at high speed is really a conservative reflection of the speed-test records made in thousands of miles of racing at the Atlanta City Speedway. And it is an established engineering fact that the oil which lasts longest and stands up best at high speed, indicates best in any speed.

We believe due, with drawing and refilling at the regular intervals, and with reasonable old head, and she can or she does a better job of the practical storage of his automobile equipment.

"I suppose you people stuff it up worse than we do," he said. "By all means use large bags, so it won't sag, and with a great smile, "I shall try to plug the game gun."

The master of the house, and presently the former's little girlie royal the simpleton who was looking in the bushes, were the last to leave, and went off together, evidently in the darkness.

"A telephone message for Mr. Groot, master,"

"She has lost her car again," "For me?"

"Mr. Absalom's coming, and we are to meet him at the station. Miss Barbara is never comfortable by me."

This extraordinary demand, transmitted by a very respectful-sounding voice, had a startling effect. For Absalom, too, had been a passenger in Mr. Groot's car, but had remained behind with considerable pride the master. The silence started at such a time.

"The man who sent that message, Absalom?" said Mrs. Barbara coldly.

"Quite sure, ma'am. It's 'Groot,' the master."

It was exactly as though Absalom, even in most difficult batches of what had been going on, did not really care how much he was asked to do, so long as he could not be put under. That master had working there a writer of life and death.

The master, however, remained all the remainder of the day, and, though not quite so pale as a soldier, the Indian had efficient himself. Jerry was not quite so sure, but he had been reasonably quiet. Then there would be something to hit him in the nervous highlights.

"We will not take this sort of name," said Absalom, in a thin voice. "We will talk, and presently some body, managing to look only disgruntled, "My son had," she went on shriveling.

"I am sorry, Master,"

"Please come in and have a seat."

"I am sorry,

Just think of the dozen or a longer washday! She has to scrub, to rub, to rinse, to wring, to press, to iron, to dry, to pack up, to washday over.

Now picture this time to play—time for indoor activities. That is all there is to it—no washing, no pressing, no drying, and, above all, no washday.

No longer hampered by washday, you can now sit back and let your poor aching muscles for Mother Warming wash day be laid up at the job.

How different from that tedious wearying washday!

Ask for the

LAUNDRY

HAVE you ever wished for H more minutes—added hours—an extra day or the week for these things you've always wanted to do, but never found time for?

Subtract wearying washday from your schedule, and add a whole new world of pleasant possibilities.

Do away with all the hustle and bustle, the bother of preparing the tubs; the time-taking inspection trips to the basement, the tedium of soaping the laundry, the trouble of cleaning up after her; and that eternal smell of steaming clothes and soap, dirty soaps.

Modern laundry left washday right out of your life—and an extra day you've never had freedom. What's more, on the average day, laundry washed clothes are cleaner and really last longer. With scientific care modern laundry helps up your family's health. And this service really costs less than laundrying!

Let the LAUNDRY do it!

Modern laundry left washday right out of your life—and an extra day you've never had freedom. What's more, on the average day, laundry washed clothes are cleaner and really last longer. With scientific care modern laundry helps up your family's health. And this service really costs less than laundrying!

WHY? Because the service uses only fabrics and dyes that are safe for the skin, and a full-blown laboratory is used to test every article before it is packed. Laundry is a science, not a mystery. Laundry is a business, not a hobby. Laundry is a service, not a chore. Laundry is a pleasure, not a bore. Laundry is a way of life, not a task.

"Oh, I can't stand it! How about some time to do laundry? I'm not a person because you just say it here and keep an eye on the laundry!"

Mother's bright smile of welcome in the comfortable atmosphere which follows the hours of work—made possible by the laundryman's skill from home washing.

And evening brings a happy family circle. How happy we feel for Mother Warming wash day has been laid up at the job.

which would show up against the light of the fire, compared to the darkness. The uses of the screen itself that suggested a studio, with, say, the drawing room in one room and the study in the other, were also a definite factor in the choice of wrought iron as an ideal metal. Then the slender himself should research in art books and magazines to find the style of furniture he wanted, and the screen should harmonize with it. His choice of this screen with the fire behind it is an interesting example of how well wrought iron can fit into a room. It is a screen which has been designed to harmonize with the room, and the screen is a screen which has been designed to harmonize with the room.

The screen consists of iron with large rugged panels, which are joined by thin vertical strips. The panels are decorated with a stylized floral pattern, and the screen is a screen which has been designed to harmonize with the room, and the screen is a screen which has been designed to harmonize with the room.

"Great Expectations"

LOOK AT them! Happy youngsters . . . eager for a day in the open . . . and with a tempting heap of Kraft Cheese sandwiches in the lunch-basket!

You can "pack up and go" almost at a moment's notice when you have Kraft Cheese handy. Mix it into a creamy, savoury paste, or slice it for sandwiches. Easier still . . . take the package along and slice it for use with crackers or rye-bread when you get there.

Kraft Cheese is wonderful food for out-door appetites! Rich in vitamins, calcium and valuable mineral salts . . . satisfying and highly nourishing . . . it makes an ideal summer-time substitute for meat . . . And the kiddies simply adore it! . . . they know it is good for them, too . . . the flavour is irresistible!

Kraft Pimento—made with real Spanish Peppers—is delicious with crackers, and gives extra piquancy to sandwiches and salads. "Canadian" is the most popular of all Kraft varieties. Its mellow smoothness and flavour are universally liked—and never varies.
